Arthur Doty, 22, of Felters Subdivision Injured in Car Crash

Ink Factory Employee Saved by Safety Belt in Rte. 173 Accident

A safety belt is credited with saving the life of Arthur Doty, 22, Felters subdivision, whose car went out of control on Rte. 173 west of Rosecrans Monday evening and crashed into a utility pole, snapping it in two.

"He was strapped in the seat of the car. That's the only reason he isn't dead right now," Sheriff Stanley Christian, who was at the scene of the accident, said.

He was treated at Victory Memorial hospital for a fracture pelvis, broken left elbow, and head injuries.

A son of Dr. Warren Doty, Chicago, young Doty lived in his father's summer home at Felters subdivision, and was employed at the Chicago Ink Co. factory of his uncle Carl B. Doty in Antioch.

Officer Patrick Quilty said witnesses told him and Deputy Robert McMahon that the 1956 model car of Doty's seemed to spin out of control as it headed west at a high rate of speed.

"It went forward, then sideways, then forward, then sideways for a distance of 250 feet," a witness told the officers.

Then the car rocketed into a utility pole on the south side of the road, snapping it in two and then spun crazily for 150 feet more and crashed headon into a big tree.

The wreck was first reported as a fatality, but investigation revealed Doty was alive.

The Antioch Rescue squad was called but Doty had been taken to a hospital before the first aid men arrived.

Rain Stops Ela Game, Replay Set for Today; Palatine 7, Antioch 4

With Antioch leading 5 to 1 in the third inning the baseball game between the Sequoias and the Ela-Vernon Bears was rained out here Tuesday and will be replayed if the weather is fit. This will be the final game of the season and a victory for Antioch probably would give them a tie with Grant for fifth place.

Antioch lost to the Palatine Pirates there Friday 7 to 4. The Sequoias started out strong, scoring four runs and threatening to knock Bob Hamilton out of the box, but he tightened and held Antioch to two hits the rest of the game.

Larry Leon's boys got their scores after one man was out in the first inning. Parker singled, Meyer walked and the two advanced a base on a wild pitch. Christensen singled scoring Parker and Meyer, and Walsh homered to right field scoring Christensen ahead of him. Meyer singled in the third and Larson singled in the seventh, but both died on base.

Palatine took advantage of Antioch errors plus a total of nine hits off Wayne Swanson to score in the first, second, and fourth innings.

The core by innings:
Antioch 4-0-0-0-0-0-0-4 5 4
Palatine 3-2-0-2-0-0-4-7 9 2
Batteries—Swanson and Meyer; Hamilton and Eich.

Fair Assn. in All-Out Effort for 1956 Fair and 4-H Club Show

The directors of the Lake County Fair Association are putting forth an all-out effort to make the 1956 Fair and 4-H Club Show one of the best ever held in Lake county, according to E. E. Elsbury, president of the association. The 1956 Fair will be held at the site of the new Fair Grounds which are located at the intersection of routes 120 and 45. This more central location should make it convenient for a larger number of visitors to attend the Fair. The dates of this year's Fair are Thursday through Sunday, July 26 through July 29.

This year's Fair will contain all the features of the past plus many added features. In addition to the spectacular fireworks display to be presented on Friday and Saturday nights, an outstanding rodeo performance will be presented on Friday and Saturday nights and Sunday afternoon. The rodeo is the well known Calzavara Enterprise which has performed in many cities throughout the country. Plenty of thrills and spills are in store for those who attend the rodeo performances.

For those who enjoy horses in another role, the 4-H Club Horse show and the open class horse show will be presented on Saturday afternoon, July 28. This, as in previous years, promises to be one of the highlights of the fair. Youth and adult riders will delight the spectators as they present their various performances including thrilling novelty and precision maneuvers.

Antioch Pays Respect To War Dead Through Parade and Services

Speaker Says Only Vigilance Will Repay Those Who Bought Freedom

Only vigilance against those who would destroy our freedom will repay those who gave their lives for their country, Atty. Lloyd Whitney of Chicago, told an audience at the Memorial Day services in Antioch yesterday.

Whitney, whose patriotic programs are well known in Antioch is familiar with the workings of Communists and warned against their subtle operations.

The parade under the direction of Edward Jahneke, as marshal, was the largest in years. An estimated thirty organizations were represented in line.

Headed by the combined colors and firing squad, the parade started at the high school and moved to the memorial stand at Broadway and Orchard st.

Both the high school and grade school bands furnished music. The bugle and drum corps that many years ago thrilled the marchers, long has been absent.

The program at the platform opened with the invocation by the Rev. Edmond Hood of St. Ignatius' Church. Robert Strang served as master of ceremonies and introduced the heads of patriotic groups. Mrs. Pearl Anderson, president of the Legion Auxiliary; Mrs. Jean Mueller, president of V. F. W. Auxiliary; Richard Seyfarth, Cmdr. of V. F. W. and Cmdr. John Horan, Jr., American Legion. Gold Star Mothers introduced were, Mrs. Myra Randall, Mrs. Laura Swanson and Mrs. Nellie Hanke.

Mayor James McMillen gave a short talk after which Strang introduced Atty. Whitney. The speeches were interspersed with numbers by the high school band. At the conclusion of the speech Gold Star Mother Mrs. Randall placed a wreath on the monument.

After the benediction by the Rev. Hood, a salute was fired by the firing squad and taps sounded by W. V. Lahti.

The weather was ideal for the parade and program.

Grade School Pupils Told Attitudes Reflect Their Total Education

"A person's education is reflected in his behavior," County Supt. W. C. Petty told Antioch Grade School eighth grade pupils in their promotional exercises at the school auditorium Tuesday evening.

The Antioch education administrator declared that education is reflected in behavior and attitudes. Whether an individual is educated or not soon becomes apparent.

Sixty-seven pupils received diplomas promoting them to high school at the hand of Supt. Petty. Norman Jede, president of the board of education gave the welcome address and Principal Richard Whitacre introduced the speaker. The invocation and benediction were given by the Rev. Howard C. Benson of the Methodist church.

The processional and recessional were played by the school band, which also played an introductory number "Sweet Betsy From Pike." (Continued on page 8)

Lindhurst Estates Plan Organization at Lake Villa Meeting

Following the advice of the N. H. Engle and Sons Co. that they prepare to take over the management of their subdivision, Lindhurst Estates residents meeting at the Lake Villa Grade school Saturday night appointed a committee to study organization.

The committee comprises Robert Randall, chairman, Lyle Mercer, Clifford Hendrickson, Raymond Caldwell, William Carnahan, Mrs. Thomas Hay, and Mrs. Lee Lewis. They will make their report on June 23.

Morton Engle told the 200 residents that his company expects to complete the sale of lots in Lindhurst this summer, but will continue building houses for the next seven or eight years.

The committee will study both incorporation and formation of a civic association such as neighboring Venetian Village has done.

The Engle company has given the subdivision ground near the water tower for use as a community baseball diamond and a league will be formed.

Salem Central Loses To Bay View 6 to 5; Champ March Ended

Failure to hit with men on bases caused Salem Central to lose to Bay View of Milwaukee at Fort Atkinson last Thursday 6 to 5, thereby ending the Kenosha County team's climb to the state championship in Class B baseball.

Ben Zeihen, ace pitcher was used at first base, but not sent to the mound, owing to the fact that he had pitched the day previously. Ron Nelson pitched good ball, but the Milwaukee team was able to make its hits count.

Central had the bases loaded in the third, fourth, and fifth innings, but was only able to push across one score.

In the meantime Kenosha High brought honor to the county by winning the Big Eight championship. A game was scheduled for Tuesday night between Central and Kenosha.

Need Band Players

Additional members are needed by the Antioch Village band, according to W. V. Lahti, president of the organization. "We need clarinets, in fact, we can use players of all kinds of instruments," he announced. Practice is on Tuesday nights at the high school.

Paying for Federal Highways

The enormously costly proposed federal road program, now being discussed in Congress, has sharply focused public attention on the problem of how to pay for highways.

Robert S. Henry of the Association of American Railroads recently observed that if the cost of highway construction and maintenance is to be distributed equitably, some kind of adequate user charge should be collected from heavy vehicles. This charge would simply reflect their greater use of the roads and the higher construction and maintenance costs they impose.

Mr. Henry added that neither the fuels tax nor the license fee is equitable. Then he said that the most equitable tax of all would be one that, in effect, "weighed" a vehicle and "measured" the distance it runs. As an example, a tax on tires would not only take into account the weight and number of tires used by a vehicle on the highways but would measure the miles run. Such a tax is also feasible in administration Mr. Henry pointed out, since it would be collected at the relatively few points of manufacture and would be paid but once during the life of the tire.

This certainly seems reasonable, as well as eminently practical. The user charge idea is in no way punitive. It distributes the costs of road building and road maintenance fairly in the light of the benefits the various kinds of users get—and in the light of the costs that their operations entail to the road builders. It looks like the best proposal yet made.

The Printed Word

Writing in a journal published by New York University's School of Retailing, Irving Settel reports that retailers are spending record amounts of money on newspaper advertising—but are chary of the inducements offered by television.

The main reason is that retailers believe that "newspaper advertising still produce the greatest number of customers for every dollar spent."

The printed word is still the best means of communication yet devised.

Pork From Red Poland

The goal of expanded world trade is a splendid one. But it would seem only sensible that we should lay emphasis on trade with our friends, not with our enemies, and that we should always keep in mind the "two-way-street" principle.

The American Meat Institute tells of a rather startling development in the foreign trade field. Last year, communist Poland—an Iron Curtain country dedicated to the destruction of what we regard as free institutions—shipped 13 per cent more canned pork products, especially hams, into the United States than in 1954. These imports totaled some 22 million pounds, with a value of almost $18 million.

By contrast, shipments of canned pork by such friendly nations as Holland, West Germany, and Canada all declined by 5 to 21 per cent. Only from Denmark did imports increase—by about 5 per cent.

To top it off, the friendly countries which shipped canned pork to the United States were heavy purchasers of our own meat and other agricultural products, including tallow and hides. But in the case of Red Poland, the value of her purchases of agricultural products of every description from the U. S. was well below $1 million—or less than one-eighth of the value of canned pork she shipped to us.

The moral seems plain. Let's have more world trade—but let's have it with countries which are on our side politically and economically.

Grassroots Opinion

SANTA PAULA, CALIF., DAILY CHRONICLE: "We believe firmly that our evenly balanced government system must be preserved or we shall drift into dictatorial government in the end."

LEBANON, KY., FALCON: "If there is a special providence that protects boys, drunks, and fools, as many believe, it doesn't operate in the case of fools driving cars."

BROWNSVILLE, PA., TELEGRAPH: "Now that he's gone, Joe Stalin has been convicted of the worst crime in the communist book—dying before he could be purged."

WALTHAM, MASS., NEWS-TRIBUNE: "The husband is the head of the house and the pedestrian has the right of way—till they try to prove it."

AFTON, WYO., STAR VALLEY INDEPENDENT: "Those who would return rigid high supports have no answer for the question of how to reduce surpluses, which admittedly are increased under a program of rigid high supports. And yet surpluses is the number one problem. It's a funny way of thinking."

Fallacies of Common Beliefs in Dangers Of Electrical Storms

Is it dangerous to carry an umbrella during a lightning storm? Do television antennas create a lightning hazard? Should you hide in a closet, go down cellar, or sit in your car when bolts of lightning start flashing?

Separating the facts from the fancy has been one of the projects undertaken by the Institute for Safer Living of the American Mutual Liability Insurance company in Boston. About 400 persons die each year because of electrical storms. More than 43,000 fires a year are attributed to lightning, causing damages estimated at $43,600,000.

No, it isn't dangerous to carry an umbrella, reports the Institute. The mass of metal is very small and the overall height of the person carrying an umbrella is not sufficient to greatly increase the chances of being struck by lightning. Actually, the open umbrella is more likely to result in a traffic accident through obstruction of vision.

As for radio and television aerials atop houses, it is true that high points attract lightning. Antennas should be provided with well-grounded lightning arresters. If at all possible antennas should be on self-supporting masts or poles. Antennas located wholly inside the building do not require lightning arresters.

Hiding in a closet is the height of folly, advises the Institute for Safer Living. Getting under the bed is useless, too. There seems to be little point in going down cellar. The greatest hazard from lightning is from a possible ensuing fire. Common sense would dictate staying at or above ground level to make certain of a rapid exit in case of fire.

An all-metal enclosed automobile is a safe place to be in during an electric storm, provided it is located free of the danger of being struck by falling objects. Occupants of such an automobile are safe as long as they remain in the car. It is possible for lightning to charge the car body so that a person leaving the vehicle could be seriously shocked or electrocuted. After such a hit or near miss, the Institute advises all occupants to remain in the car from 10 to 15 minutes to allow the charge to drain off.

If you are caught outdoors and are unable to get into an all-metal enclosed automobile or a building the safest thing to do is head for a grove of trees. Don't stand out in the open or under a single isolated tree, warns the Institute for Safer Living.

Thoughts have wings, and when driving your thoughts should travel well ahead of the car. What's happening around the next bend or over the next hill? Who knows, but the Institute for Safer Living warns that all too often it's serious trouble. Make it a habit to think ahead farther than you can see, and you'll greatly lessen your chances of an accident.

The speed of the modern ELECTRIC ranges!

25% faster than 5 years ago—

today—nothing cooks faster!

New French-door Oven is one of the "new idea" features offered by Frigidaire. Bottom shelf rolls out automatically when French doors open.

Today we're surrounded with all manner of wonders from our great electrical engineering laboratories. Color TV, Radar, High Fidelity phonographs.

Yet perhaps one of the most useful advances has taken place right in the kitchen. New designs and new ideas have made today's electric ranges 25% faster than 5 years ago.

The new instant-heat surface units, for example, give you a jet-like surge of heat as soon as you turn one on. And newly perfected oven and broiler units give you the fastest preheating and broiling you've ever experienced.

If you are considering building or buying a home, or even remodeling your kitchen, see the new electric ranges. They come in a wide variety of decorator colors. And when you cook with an electric range your kitchen will be cleaner, cooler and more comfortable.

And, you'll find more of the exciting "new-idea" features in electric ranges than in any other kind. Learn how little it costs to own a new automatic electric range from dealers near you.

Big Saving—We Pay Part of Your Range Installation Cost!

Need new wiring to install your electric range? We share the cost with qualified home owners in 1, 2 and 3-family dwellings. This can cut your expense by about half.

And you get more than a money saving!

The modern wiring that goes with your installation helps improve your TV picture, brightens lights, makes everything electrical work better. You can also install a 240-volt electric dryer, water heater or air conditioner quickly and cheaply. The Share-the-Cost Plan is available on terms of up to 2 years.

Think of this next time you're in heavy traffic —

No other transmission is so smooth as Dynaflow*

You know how it is.

Anyone who drives a car must sometimes drive in crawling, slow-moving traffic where it's stop-and-go or spurt-and-slow.

And if you're used to a car that handles such traffic with a continuous series of upshifts and downshifts—even automatically—then maybe you think that's the best you can have.

But it isn't. You can have Dynaflow smoothness in a new Buick—and you won't believe the difference until you try stop-and-go traffic.

For here you have absolute smoothness when you accelerate.

Here you have absolute smoothness when you decelerate.

Here you have absolute smoothness under every road condition and traffic pace—with no lags or bumps to mark upshifts and downshifts—because no gears ever shift in Dynaflow.

It's the only transmission on the American scene today where flowing oil does the work of gears every step of the way—and where smoothness is constant, absolute and infinite.

So maybe you ought to sample a new Buick with Variable Pitch Dynaflow—and try the new thrills that go with this smoothness.

The flash-fast new getaway response—and new stepped-up gas mileage—when you press the pedal barely an inch—

The instant new full-power acceleration

when you floor the pedal and switch the pitch for a needed safety-surge—

The wallowing new might of the big new 322-cubic-inch V8 engine that puts the ginger to it all—

And the new ride, the new handling ease, the new interiors, the new bold look of racy sweep-ahead styling.

Drop in on us this week—today if you can—and see for yourself what straightforward truth we tell you here—and what great-buy prices are keeping Buick more firmly than ever in the top 3 of America's best sellers.

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflow is the only Dynaflow Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.

Personal Debts Upped Considerably During Year 1955

NEW YORK—The American people in their record spending spree last year added the equivalent of $1.63 to their personal debts for every dollar of increase in their long-term savings.

Figures compiled from Government and private sources show that the total of personal debt jumped by more than $20 billions during 1955 to an estimated $147 billions at the year-end. This represented by far the biggest yearly increase of its kind on record, and it was half again as great as the previous peak annual rise in personal debt of more than $13 billions in 1953. These debt figures consist of mortgages on one-to-four non-farm homes, installment and other consumer credit, agricultural mortgage and non-real estate debt, and life insurance policy loans.

At the same time, accumulated long-term savings of individuals in life insurance, savings accounts, savings and loan associations, and current redemption of U.S. Savings Bonds owned by individuals, but not including home owners' equities, increased by approximately 12½ billions during 1955 to bring to an estimated $232½ billions at the end of the year, according to Federal Home Loan Bank Board. While this increase was second only to the one in 1954 as the largest for any year in the decade since the end of World War II, it fell $8 billions short of matching the net amount that the people had expanded their borrowings during the year, primarily to buy homes, automobiles and other durable goods.

Airborne Dust Hinders Spacemen

CHICAGO—Tiny particles of airborne dust—almost invisible to the naked eye—may be a great hindrance to our space travel, according to the findings of researchers at the Armour Research Foundation of Illinois Institute of Technology.

This problem and the problem of erosion of metal surfaces caused by the heat generated by air friction are being given serious attention by engineers.

Investigators have learned that ordinary dust traveling at high speeds can cause extensive damage to metal and glass surfaces. To simulate some of the hazards encountered in space flight, they have developed a method which may be useful for accelerating fine dust particles to speeds as high as 11,000 feet per second, or more than 7,000 miles per hour.

If damage from these millions of dust specks striking the surface of a satellite vehicle is great enough, it could seriously diminish the chances of a missile or satellite to fulfill its mission.

Eskimo Birthrate Affected by Food

WASHINGTON—The Eskimo birthrate is increased as much as threefold when the Arctic people eat "white man's food" instead of their traditional pure animal diet of whale, fish and seal. This is the observation of Prof. G. E. MacGinitie, of the California Institute of Technology, in a report of his biological investigations at the navy's Arctic Research Laboratory at Point Barrow, on Alaska's Arctic coast.

"When hunting was the only means of subsistence," he writes, "Eskimo women became pregnant only once in several years but with the new diet they bear a baby about every year. What will happen when outside support is shut off is an important and serious problem. Some few fathers are training their boys in hunting and other Eskimo skills, but most of them are content to let the future take care of itself. The situation is fast becoming a problem difficult of solution."

Library Gets Book Back After 36 Years

DURHAM, N.C.—The Duke University Library chalked up a new record a few days ago: a book was returned 36 years overdue.

The volume, a biography of Napoleon, was checked out on Oct. 8, 1919, and the fine theoretically could have been about $950, at a nickel per day except holidays.

However, the library has a "statute of limitations" for this sort of thing: the most you must pay is the price of the book, plus the cost of replacing it.

This book was returned by a professor who found it among his father's books. Since he wasn't responsible there was no charge, just thanks.

Big Losses

WASHINGTON—Losses sustained by the Post Office Department in the decade since World War II total $4,600,000,000—five times as great as losses in the 10 years before the war—and represent $100 of debt for every United States family.

Bowling Leagues Will Start Next Week at Antioch Recreation

Several hundred persons attended the opening of the Antioch Recreation last weekend and saw the new automatic pin setters.

Between 1,100 and 1,200 lines were bowled free of charge, at the courtesy of the management.

Summer bowling will start next week. The Teen-agers League will bowl at 7:30 p. m. on Mondays; Ladies' league at 8 p. m. on Tuesdays; Mixed League at 8 p. m. on Wednesday; and Men's League at 7:30 p. m. on Thursdays.

Rather than schedule a special meeting to organize, the bowlers will report a half hour early next week to line up the teams. There will be openings for teams or individuals in any of the leagues for men, women and high school students.

The summer bowling is for new bowlers, those who want to keep in practice or want to establish an average.

Bathing Suit Time Means—Fun for All

and calorie counting for some

Flavorful vegetable beef soup is low in calories and has good food value. Serve it with saltines, cottage cheese salad, diet-pack apricots and a glass of skim milk for a streamlining lunch of 450 calories.

It's easier for the cook if one menu can serve everyone.

With soup as the crux of the meal, there's no problem. A typical menu may include vegetable beef soup and a cottage cheese salad (adding pineapple and mayonnaise to Junior's).

To go with the soup and salad have peanut butter and bacon sandwiches for the athletes... saltines for the "slimmers". For dessert, serve diet-pack apricots to the calorie-counters, and chocolate cake to the others.

Salem Center Library Reading Room Named For Principal Erickson

A large audience attended the dedication of the new recreation reading center at Salem Central High school Tuesday evening, May 15, in which the Library club paid tribute to Principal Allen H. Erickson by naming the room in his honor.

Invitations were extended to all Library club members, school personnel and their wives and husbands, board of education and their wives and husbands, high school librarians of neighboring schools, and parents.

The following program was presented:

Welcome by Bob Merton, president of Library Club; Message from Miss Margaret Diehl, county superintendent of schools; address by Miss Anna May Vold, state supervisor of school libraries; entertainment by the Vic-Bell and Benny Harmonists of Kenosha.

The following dedication and presentation was given by Bob Merton, president of the Library Club:

"We are assembled here this evening to honor our principal, Mr. Erickson. Since the day the first freshman class walked into this school, he has conscientiously worked to provide us the best educational facilities. All school personnel and we students who have been working with him since the first day this school was opened, can appreciate the long hours of work which he has put in, particularly during that memorable first year in which this school was in operation.

pears to be the first break from the regular farm homes along the road. Rte. 173 is the last of the cross country roads remaining farmland.

When it's necessary for you to park on a hill, remember to turn your wheels against the curb and set your hand brake.

Mr. Erickson, we are indeed grateful and also for the kindly and understanding guidance which you have given us. You have co-operated with all of the departments in the school in order to help us on the road to success.

"Service has always been the motto of our Library Club. Due to your interest, enthusiasm, and co-operation, you have made it possible for us to promote a more extensive program of library service for the benefit of the faculty and student body of this school. Adults of this school community have also been made to feel welcome to use the facilities of our library.

"This new reading room, we hope, will serve to stimulate even greater interest in reading. We want it to be a continued living memorial to you, Mr. Erickson.

"At this time we take great pleasure in presenting to you this plaque which will be placed on the wall of this room here—after to be known as the Allen H. Erickson Reading Room. The inscription on this plaque reads as follows:

"Dedicated to the first principal of Central High School in tribute to his untiring efforts in promoting the welfare of young people."

Principal Erickson responded, acknowledging the honor bestowed upon him and the gift of furnishings which were purchased by the Library club for the new reading room. Upon the official opening of the new reading center, the school song was played by Bill Benson's Hot Shot Five orchestra.

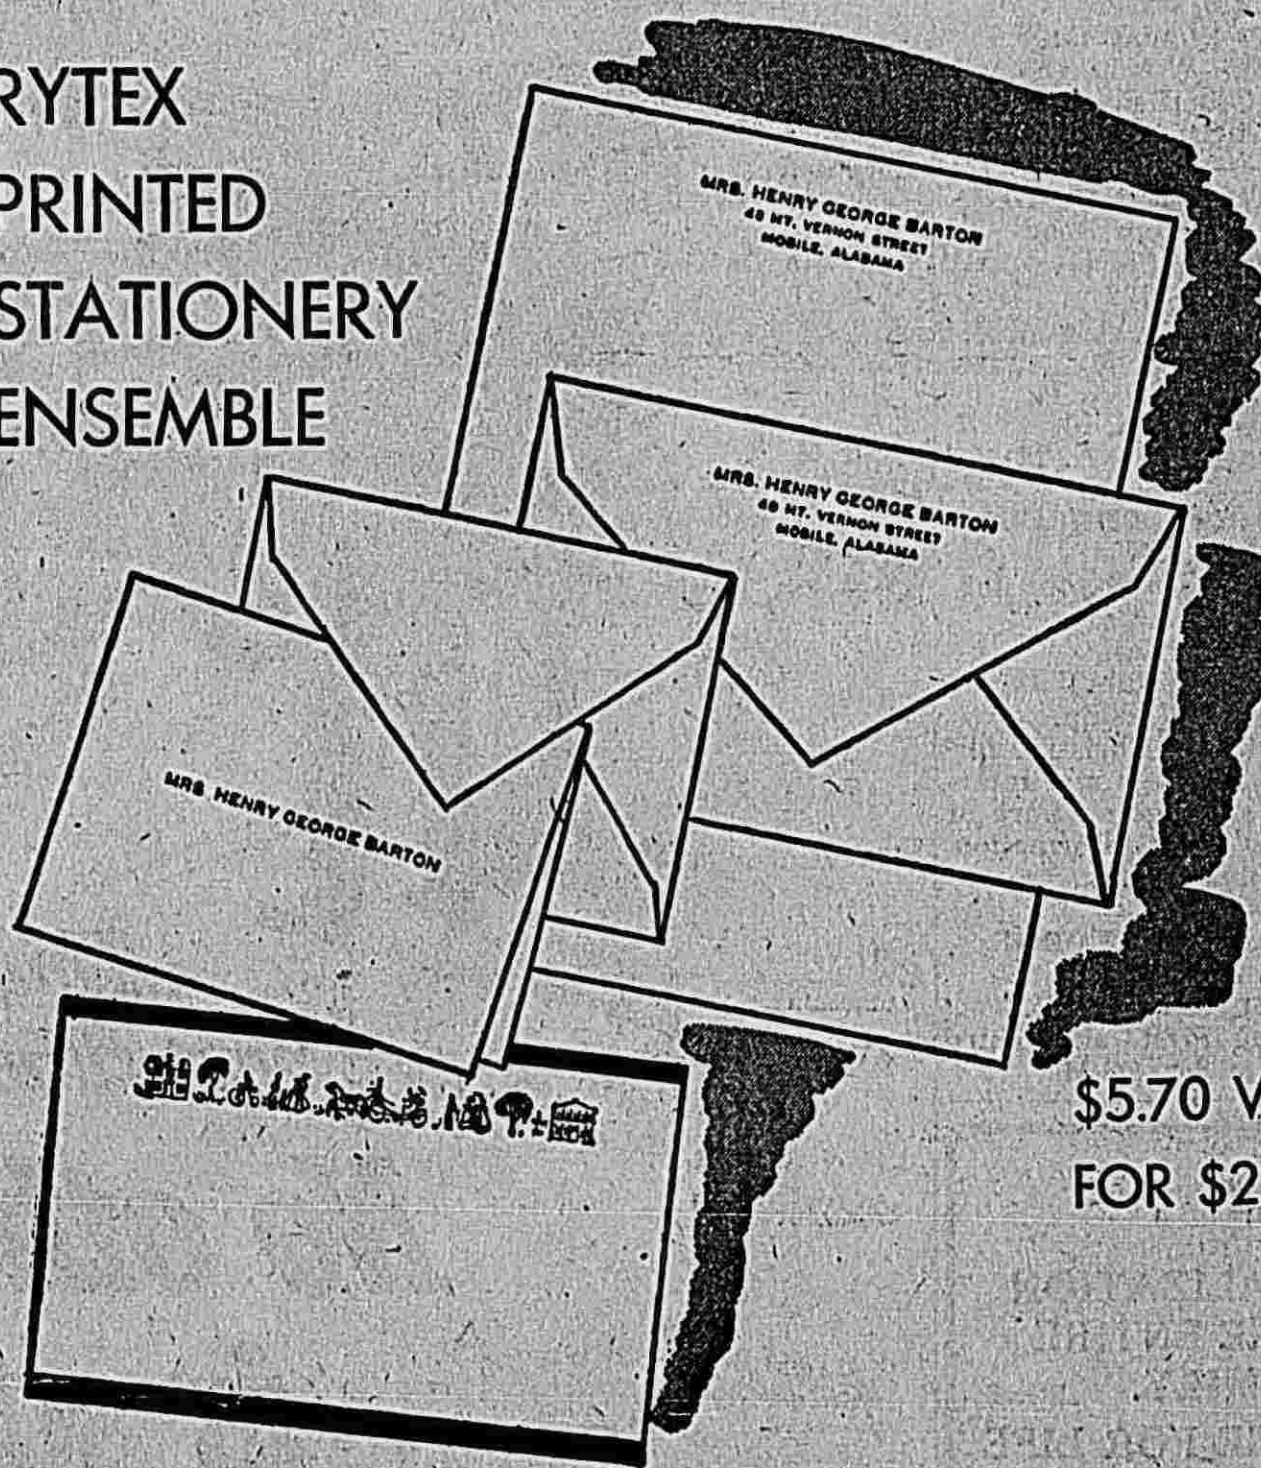

Silver, gold, letters and special gold chevrons awards were presented to members of the Library club by Miss Irene Bosman in appreciation of their fine work in library service.

Following a saxophone solo by Jeanette Sabin, a buffet luncheon was served to everyone present.

Music was furnished before the evening's program and during the luncheon social hour by the orchestra.

Dries And Stores Grain —In One Operation

Cutaway diagram of new Quonset grain-dryer-storage building illustrates the flow of unheated drying air through the entire grain mass. For cooling, the fans are reversed. Grain is handled only once, keeps spoilage-free indefinitely.

A Quonset grain-dryer-storage building, which promises to revolutionize present methods of harvesting, drying and storing small grains and shelled-corn, has been developed and successfully field-tested by the Stran-Steel Corporation, a unit of National Steel Corporation. The installation employs unheated air which is forced through the grain by semi-pressure fans. Moisture content of the grain is brought down to safe storage level within a matter of days; the fans can then be reversed to cool the grain and provide spoilage-free storage indefinitely.

The new Quonset dryer-storage building solves the problems faced by the increasing number of farmers who are harvesting early to avoid expensive field losses. And it is priced within the average farmer's range. In comparison with other methods of drying and storing grain, the complete Quonset system costs 15% less. There is no fuel to buy. Its one operating cost—electricity for its fans—is almost 50% less than that of heated air systems.

The labor-saving value of the new system is by itself outstanding. As Ernest Ham, who is using it on his farm near Saronville, Nebraska, puts it: "What I like best about this new set up is that it condenses your work to the point where one man can nearly do it all."

We Read Poorly For Supposedly Educated People

NEW YORK — For a nation of supposedly well educated people, Americans has a surprising low score at reading. One authority states that 10 per cent of all our students are retarded readers. Tests have shown that more than half of the boys and girls in New York City schools are reading below their normal grade levels—in some cases six years below.

They're reading below their intelligence levels, too. Nearly 50 per cent of the New York high school population fall short of their potential reading ability as measured by I.Q. scores. And one reading clinic in another city reports that less than two per cent of all the children who have been referred to it during recent years have been below average in intelligence.

Substandard reading ability cannot be dismissed as a single isolated handicap. It has been found to be closely tied in with one's entire make-up; sometimes causing emotional disturbances and sometimes resulting partly from them. Obviously, vision is a primary factor in the situation, the Better Vision Institute points out.

The child with a reading problem is apt to develop a sense of inferiority as a result of this frustration. He may become a withdrawn type of person, perhaps failing to compete socially as well as in the classroom. And he may be a trouble-maker. In 1953 a delegation from the Affiliated Teacher Organizations of Los Angeles complained to the board of education that poor readers in the high schools were causing the teachers one of their biggest discipline problems.

Radioiron Aids Deficiency Study

LOS ANGELES—Radioactive milk, eggs and cereal may help solve problems of iron deficiency, prevalent among the nation's infants.

Dr. Jeanette Schulz, pediatrician at UCLA Medical School, has been awarded a $5,000 fellowship to study such problems.

In the study, hens and cows are being infected with harmless amounts of radioiron which show up in trace amounts in eggs and milk. Radioiron is also added to baby cereals.

After the harmlessly radioactive food is fed to infants the iron absorption can be traced through iron radioactivity.

From the research Dr. Schulz hopes to learn (1) the amount of iron absorbed by infants from food, (2) if infants get sufficient iron from their food to meet blood building requirements, and (3) if infant diets should be supplemented with iron as extensively as is done with vitamins.

Famed Ripple Rock Will Be Destroyed

WASHINGTON—Tons of high explosives will remove a shipping peril along the inside passage to Alaska if a Canadian plan succeeds.

The target is Ripple Rock, a twin-knobbed reef on which more than a hundred vessels have foundered with a toll of scores of lives, says the National Geographic Society.

Ripple Rock is at the southern end of Seymour Narrows in the Strait of Georgia between British Columbia and Vancouver Island. Seamen have tagged it with a number of names: "the Fang," "the Barb," "the Lurking Jackal."

Government plans for destroying the reef began last fall. But the actual blast will not be heard until 1957 or early 1958. Engineers have learned that blasting Ripple Rock is no ordinary task. Turbulent currents and tides defeated two previous attempts to remove the obstacle by drilling and blasting from an anchored barge.

Sulfur-Mustard Drug Shows Great Promise

SAN FRANCISCO—University of California scientists have found in preliminary trials that a new sulfur mustard drug appears to be of promise in the treatment of Hopkin's Disease and other forms of lymphatic cancer.

The research, supported in part by the American Cancer Society, was based on extensive animal experiments and tests on 27 human patients. Final clinical evaluation must await more extensive use on patients.

The sulfur mustard is a version of the mustard gas used in World War I.

Monkeys, Too

ATLANTIC CITY—The discovery that monkeys get the measles just like man indicates that monkeys and men can give it to each other. Dr. Gisela Buckle of the University of Pittsburgh reported the isolation of a virus from monkey tissue and said it was indistinguishable from measles virus previously isolated from man by other researchers.

Secrets of a Model

Some models spend their days posing in minks and sables. Not me! I am what is known as The Housewife Type. I spend my days in a housedress posing with a range or freezer or automatic washer.

It happens that I know something about cooking and freezing and washing clothes. But I guess I should keep it a secret.

Take today's assignment. When I was handed a load of lacy lingerie to toss into an automatic washer, I balked.

"Now look,"

I told the photographer. "You talk realism constantly. You insist that I wear aprons and low-heeled shoes. You remove my doe eyes and most of my makeup. You construct a realistic kitchen setting and put me in it. Then you do something completely unrealistic like putting this stuff in an automatic washer. Even a model knows that lingerie should be washed by hand."

(I can get away with backtalk to this photographer. I'm married to him.)

"Smile," Hank said as he snapped the shutter. Then he walked me over to my dressing room.

"Listen here, Beautiful, for photographic purposes you may be a model housewife but in reality you're living in the past. That RCA Whirlpool Imperial washer launders silks and nylons quite as well as denim and gingham. It's the 2-speed, 2-cycle unit the Whirlpool-Seeger people just brought out. Regular fabrics are swished around at regular speed but there's a special low-speed, short-time cycle for delicate fabrics. Eliminates this hand-washing you're pushing."

Naturally, Hank was right. On our way home this evening we stopped by our local dealer's store and watched a demonstration. Sure enough, the delicate fabrics cycle is every bit as gentle as hand-washing—and a lot faster.

Worms, Like Man, Learn and Forget To Remember

BERKELEY, Calif.—A University of California graduate student has shown for the first time that certain worms will learn, forget what they have learned, and then remember again—very much the way humans do.

This was reported by W. J. Coppock, a graduate student in the department of psychology.

Coppock studied what is known to psychologists as "extinction and spontaneous recovery" phenomena in the common sand worm, known to zoologists as Nereis virens. Extinction can be equated roughly to forgetting, and spontaneous recovery to remembering.

He taught four worms the simple trick of swimming out of a glass tube in order to get food whenever a light was flashed on them. They all learned this trick in a very short time, responding to the light within 30 seconds after fewer than 20 lessons.

Then Coppock taught the worms to forget the trick. He did this by fooling them: flashing the light and withholding the food. Before very long, the worms forgot that a flash of light once meant food. They simply stayed in their glass tubes waiting for their two regular meals each day.

The California researcher suspended his experiments for two days after the trick had been extinguished—forgotten—by the worms. Then he tried flashing the light on the worms again.

Sure enough, they came right out of their tubes, even though they received no food for it. In other words, they "remembered" the trick that they had been trained to forget.

Warning System For Tornadoes

WASHINGTON—Though science knows no defense against the spinning winds of a tornado, a new radar warning system may reduce the spring season's annual harvest of destruction.

In a network of cities east of the Rocky Mountains, Weather Bureau observers scan radarscopes for the appearance of any distant squall line. Not every line bears a latent twister. But it is these frontiers of thunder, wind and rain that breed nature's most violent storm.

When one is spotted an alert is flashed and hundreds of volunteer ground corpsmen begin watching for possible formation of the dark pendant cloud that swings down to earth like an elephant's trunk, wrecking nearly everything in its narrow path. Even a few minutes warning saves lives.

The first widespread network of radar was established in Texas in 1954. Since then the Weather Bureau has extended the system to neighboring states in "Tornado Alley."

Chickens Will 'Lay' For Civil Defense

CHAPEL HILL, N.C.—Chickens may join the civil defense ranks in case of nuclear war by "laying down" a yardstick for measuring deadly radioactive strontium.

Zoologists Howard T. Odum of Duke and Edwin M. Banks of the University of Illinois outlined this possibility during an Academy of Science meeting.

Eggshells could be used for measuring radioactive strontium present in atomic fallout, they explained, because when chickens eat strontium-containing foods, this substance quickly appears in their egg shells.

Strontium is a metallic element often used in the production of fireworks. Radioactive strontium is considered the most dangerous substance in atomic fallout "because of its long life and affinity for bones," the zoologists said.

Predicting Quakes Puzzling Task

BERKELEY, Calif.—Next year's earthquakes are even less predictable than next year's weather, according to Dr. Perry Byerly, professor of seismology on the Berkeley campus of the University of California and director of the University seismographic stations.

Accurate records have not been kept long enough to determine whether earthquakes come in recurring cycles, he said. At present, the only safe prediction is that where the earth's crust has shifted before, it will shift again.

Learning how to predict earthquakes is one purpose of studying them.

Easy Climbing

VIENNA—Brig Sir John Hunt, head of the team that topped Mount Everest, predicts that "sooner or later Everest and the Himalayas will be traversed just as an Alpine peak."

Here on a lecture tour, he said it would require coordinated climbing from both sides. His team climbed it from Nepal. The far side is Tibetan, under Red China control.

Spring Comes to the Swiss Alps

In Switzerland, the advent of Spring means there's work to be done for the men whose job it is to clear the high Alpine Passes of Winter's snow. But soon the Passes—like the famed Simplon above which this year is celebrating its 150th anniversary—will be ready for visitors who will be taking to the high ground.

Whether behind the wheel of your own car or touring aboard a Swiss Postal Administration's (PTT) bus, Switzerland's landscape remains a windshield-wonderland. With 27,000 miles of highways, 20 great mount pass roads and colorful bridges that polka-dot the country, her natural beauties are easily accessible to motorists.

There are virtually no restrictions in Switzerland for tourists who wish to bring along their own car which is proven by the fact that close to 2-million foreign cars, motorcycles and buses toured Switzerland last year.

Not only does Switzerland have a marvelous highway system in addition to a network of 3,200 miles of railway, but also are credited with having the world's best bus drivers. According to the Swiss National Travel Office in New York, an estimated 80 percent of U.S. visitors to Switzerland take a trip by Postal Motor Coach or car over one or more of the nation's 24 "Alpine Postal Roads," superb examples of road engineering.

REDUCTION OF ACCIDENTS - MEDICINE'S AIM, SAYS HEAD OF STATE DOCTORS

CHICAGO—An important phase of preventive medicine is the prevention of accidents, according to Dr. F. Lee Stone, who was inaugurated today as president of the Illinois State Medical Society.

He succeeded Dr. F. Garm Norbury of Jacksonville, Ill., as head of the nearly 10,000-member organization.

"For every accident that is avoided, there is freed that much of physician, time and hospital service for the care of the sick, and for important research in the prevention and treatment of disease," Dr. Stone said.

"The profession has demonstrated that it can be effective in the prevention of accidents. Thousands of lives have been saved in plants, homes, offices and on the highways through the efforts of doctors."

Dr. Stone, who spent a part of his boyhood in Byron, Ill., before moving with his family to Chicago, predicted that in the future physicians will become even more active in educational programs to prevent accidents.

Born in St. Louis, January 4, 1885, Dr. Stone graduated from the University of Illinois College of Medicine in 1910. After two years of internship at Cook County Hospital, he practiced for a while in Beaver Crossing, Neb., before returning to Chicago, where he has served with distinction as an obstetrician and gynecologist for 42 years.

Dr. Stone, a veteran of World War I, is married and the father of two sons, one of whom is also a physician, and a daughter.

How Much Ocean Do Individual Nations Control?

WASHINGTON — International jurists are seeking an answer to a puzzle as old as the saga of seafaring: How much ocean can a nation call its own?

Under modern theory the high seas belong to anybody. By time-honored precedent a nation may control no more of its offshore waters than an eighteenth-century cannon could shoot—one league or three nautical miles. In actual practice, nations throughout the world are putting "No Trespassing" signs on coastal belts extending from four to 200 miles from their mainlands.

Some neighboring nations think that is bending the principle of freedom of the seas too far. Out-of-bounds waters present a particular problem to far-ranging fishermen and planners of hemispheric defense. In an effort to settle the intricate problems of oceanic geography, however, the United Nations this year will receive proposals from its International Law Commission for new rules befitting present-day conditions.

Today, fewer and fewer nations accept the three-mile limit. It is unlawful, for instance, for foreign fishermen to drop nets within 12 miles of Soviet Russia, Columbia, or Guatemala. Chile, Ecuador, Peru and the 70-mile El Salvador claim 200-mile belts in the Pacific Ocean.

Do-It-Yourself Fatalities Few

NEW YORK—Do-it-yourself activities are responsible only to a very minor extent for the fact that home accidents kill about twice as many men as women at their main working ages, according to insurance company statisticians.

Only about 6 per cent of one company's male industrial policyholders from 15 to 64 years old who died in home accidents during 1953 and 1954 were fatally injured while engaged in repair, maintenance, or improvement work. The do-it-yourself victims included men who fell from ladders, roofs, or scaffolds while painting the exterior of the house, while shingling or repairing the roof, or while adjusting or installing television aerials on the roof.

The study showed that almost every important type of accident in and about the home took a higher death toll among men than among women.

Fewer Hemorrhages Using New Compound

NEW YORK—The unpredictable hemorrhage that frequently occurs following the removal of adenoids in children has been prevented in ninety-seven of one hundred operations, according to a recent report.

Dr. Herbert P. Harkins of the University of Pennsylvania, who ran the clinical study showed that both the frequency and severity of hemorrhage, which can occur hours or even days after surgery, was markedly reduced through the use of a compound known as Synkayvite-CB.

The findings were based upon a controlled study of two hundred Philadelphia children between the ages of five and thirteen. One hundred of the children were given the Synkayvite-CB before and following surgery.

Of this one hundred, only three suffered post-operative hemorrhages. In each case, the bleeding was minor and easily controlled at home.

Fourteen of the children who did not receive the medicine suffered hemorrhages after the operation.

Women More Friendly Today, Cards Reveal

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—Today's women have proved to be friendlier and more thoughtful of others than their counterparts of a quarter century ago, a study made here indicates. They send nearly six times as many greeting cards.

The typical American woman sends friends and relatives about 200 greetings annually to cheer their birthdays, anniversaries, vacations, homecomings, illnesses and such days as Christmas, Easter and Valentine's Day. In 1930 she sent only 35.

Most women of today enjoy a wider circle of friends than their mothers did, the study revealed, and more women have adopted greeting cards for social correspondence. Even so, more of them make a conscious effort to "keep in touch," they said, than women of the previous generation did.

Good Driver

BENTLEYVILLE, Pa.—I. N. South, a retired salesman, doesn't claim any records, but says he's driven 1,500,000 miles without an accident.

South, much in demand as an after-dinner speaker, has been driving 41 years and owns his 30th automobile. He started with a chain driven Metz roadster.

OUT ON A LIMB

By Stumpy McCulloch

Two backwoodsmen knocked on Joe Moon's door the other mornin'. "Howdy, Joe," one said. "Me and Ed just found the body of a feller over in the hollow, and we thought maybe it was you."

"What'd he look like?" Joe asked. "Well, he was about your build, and..."

"Did he have on a flannel shirt?" "Yep."

"With red and white checks?" "No, it was plain gray."

"Nope," Joe said, "twasn't me!"

By the way, did you ever realize the forest provided the first business we ever had in America? Yep, that's right. In 1605, Capt. George Weymouth took a load of white pine logs that he'd cut in Maine, and shipped them to England. Well, sir, the English took one look at them logs, and sent him back for more. They wanted to use the logs as masts for the proudest ships on earth—the king's navy! Yes, sir—timber was the first product from the New World. And it's still one of our greatest resources!

I guess you know all about the Mayflower. That was a small ship on which several million ancestors came to America in 1620!

Logging camps ain't what they used to be, I hear—they're better! In the west, many loggers live in town, nowadays, instead of in lumber camps. They drive to work—just as if they worked in an office or factory. And the forests are better managed, too—by using "selective logging" techniques, for instance. This means a forest will continue to grow wood for centuries to come! For that matter, that's how I harvest timber on my tree farm, too!

In some places, they don't float logs downriver any more, either! Lots of companies have their own logging roads, for taking wood out of land that once was inaccessible. These roads are a big help in fightin' forest fires, too.

"Seems mighty strange to me, Ol' Zeke told his hired hand the other day, that you're allus late to work in the mornin', and yet you're livin' right on the farm. Now Bill Brown, who lives two miles away, is allus on time."

"Tain't funny at all," the hired hand said. "If Bill's late in the mornin', he can hurry a bit. But if I'm late, I'm here!"

So long. See you next time!

Early to bed, early to rise—helps to make a man a safe driver. Fatigue is a top highway killer, according to the Institute for Safer Living of the American Mutual Liability Insurance Company. It's a leading reason why more people are injured or killed during late afternoon or evening hours than at any other time of day. Always plan your auto trips so that you will have time for a few minutes rest stop during each hour or two of sustained driving. This is doubly important on fast thoroughfares.

Tips on Traffic Safety

By
CHARLES F. CARPENTIER
Secretary of State

The coming of summer brings a heavy flow of traffic to our highways. Besides the many motorists who will take to the road for short trips or for vacations there also will be many who will go out for a pleasant drive. With the many cars on the road it is essential that all of us drive with alertness.

Some vacation bound motorists will believe that they must keep the accelerator to the floor so they can enjoy their vacations for a longer period of time. These motorists just cannot be convinced that instead of attempting to lengthen the hours of their relaxation and entertainment they are merely recklessly risking their lives and the lives of others on the highways.

Another problem is sometimes presented by the motorist who is out only for a pleasant drive. This occurs when the motorist does not pay strict attention to his driving duties. By not fulfilling his obligations, he puts it upon the shoulders of the other motorists to keep him from having an accident or from causing other parties to be involved in an accident. Alertness behind a steering wheel will not only prevent accidents, it will also save lives.

A copy of the completely new "Rules of the Road" booklet will be sent to you free upon request. Write to CHARLES F. CARPENTIER, Secretary of State, Springfield, Illinois.

TAKE CARE TO WALK SAFELY

Traffic congestion is at its worst in the plant parking areas, out on the nearby streets just before and after change of shifts. After dark it's more dangerous than ever. If you are on foot, stay in the walking areas, use the properly designated plant gates. Obey the traffic policeman or traffic lights so that you're not caught in the middle of moving traffic. Stay on the curb till it's time to cross the street. Use the intersection; no darting out suddenly on the roadway from between parked cars. By taking care, staying alert, you help yourself to stay safe.

Canada — Artists' Paradise

Nova Scotia's tide is out and a schooner left high and dry on the beach is a perfect subject for this painter's canvas.

The color of the water in glacial-fed Lac Beauvert, "show window" of Jasper Park in the Canadian Rockies, changes with the sky. Here it is a brilliant blue, so calm that the images of surrounding snow-clad peaks are mirrored in its surface. (Below) Mr. and Mrs. Chester Mayer, of Milwaukee, Wis., sketch Perce Rock, off the Gaspé Peninsula of Quebec.

TO EAT your cake and have it, too, is one of mankind's most frustrating problems. However, the artist, professional and amateur alike, has found a solution to this problem by visiting Canada, which thousands from all parts of the United States do each year. They register the Canada they see on canvas or their favorite basic stock and thereby capture their Canada for all time and for all to see and admire. Canada, from the rock-bound coasts of Newfoundland and the picturesque Maritime provinces, through the quaint French-Canadian countryside; the woodland and lake country of Ontario, the broad Prairies and the majestic Canadian Rockies to the Pacific-kissed shores of British Columbia, is a veritable artists' paradise. ### EDDIE the EDUCATOR says

The ideals and faith for which millions have made the supreme sacrifice are emphasized in our schools.

Illinois Education Association

Folks in our part of the country like the story about the time the French ambassador visited Teddy Roosevelt. Tryin' to entertain his guest, the President invited him to play a game of tennis. They played two sets. Then the President suggested a sprint around the lawn. They sprinted. After that, they worked out with the medicine ball. Finally, Teddy Roosevelt turned to his guest: "What would you like to do now?" he inquired.

"If it's all the same to you, Mr. President," the ambassador said, "I think I'd like to lie down and die."

Remember the hare and the tortoise? Both would be chumps in today's highway traffic. The Institute for Safer Living says: Don't travel too fast for prevailing road or street conditions. You may lose a race with death. On the other hand, don't be a turtle and obstruct the flow of traffic. Too fast—too slow—somebody's sure to get hurt.

Calorie-Counters' Banana Cream Pie

Campaigning to keep the family calorie-count down? Find their love for luscious, rich desserts a hurdle? Here's a new, low-calorie banana cream pie to help you satisfy their sweet tooth without wrecking your program.

With this new recipe, you can whip up a banana cream pie that has 130 fewer calories per serving than the ordinary kind, and it's every bit as delicious.

The secret is Carnation's "Magic Crystals"—the nonfat dry milk solids that immediately burst into fresh milk flavor when mixed with water. The low-calorie "Magic Crystals" are used in both the filling and whipped topping.

Banana Cream Pie
 1/2 cup sugar
 1/2 cup cornstarch
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 2-1/2 cups liquid Carnation Instant
 1-9 inch pie shell or crumb crust made with vanilla wafers
 2 eggs
 3 tablespoons butter
 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
 2 medium sized bananas

Mix sugar, cornstarch and salt in top of double boiler. Add liquid Carnation Instant; mix thoroughly. Cook over boiling water until thickened (15-20 minutes); stir occasionally. Add small amount of hot mixture to beaten eggs; mix and return to milk mixture over boiling water. Cook another 4-5 minutes; remove from heat; stir in butter and vanilla. Cool thoroughly; pour into pie shell. Just before serving, slice bananas over filling and top with whipped instant.

For 3 cups whipped topping, mix 1/2 cup "Magic Crystals" with 1/2 cup cold water in bowl. Beat until soft peaks form (3-4 minutes). Add 2 tablespoons lemon juice. Continue beating until stiff peaks form (3-4 minutes more), fold in 1/4 cup sugar; place on pie; serve at once.
